NEW ORLEANS, December 11.—Cotton futures lost 6 to 19 points as the result of today's trading, closing at practically the lowest. January sold as low as 6.87. Moderate liquidation of long cotton, together with hedge selling and speculative short selling, put the market lower in the morning, and later the softness of Southern spot markets completed the work.

days was evidenced yesterday in the realty transactions that went to rectord. No large deals were recorded, but there were a number of small ones, which boosted the figures for the week's business quite a little. The demand on the local market continues for small residential property. Several lots around the corner of Fourth and Arch Streets were transfered yesteday. Agencies dealing in farm lands report that there is a good demand for small tracts suitable for truck farming. The agents are taking an optimistic view of the future.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, December 11.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say:

Confidence in the future is encouraging enough, and underlying basic conditions continue, but as reflected in actual orders is disapointingly slow. Conservatism seems to have lecome a fixed habit, and in consequence buying is of the small-lot variety. So it may be said that the larger lines of distribution, as well as numerous producing enterprises are working at a reduced rate, and wherever activity is visible it is directly traceable to rush orders for the warring nations. It is true, however, that buying of holiday goods imparts a certain degree of holiday goods of seasonable wearing apparel and benefited the winter wheat crop, but as a general rule purchases of seasonal gifts are rather light, and many centres note a tendency to run to the lower priced articles. Thus, while trade in this respect is retained to the state of industrial and other

HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Commissioner of Insurance Button yesterday received from State Commissioner of Insurance Joseph Button vesterday received from the chief of the detective bureau of the department an official report telling of the result of the preliminary hearing in the case of liarry Frazer, a Portsmouth business man, on the charge of burning his instainment furniture store, Effington and Columbia Streets, Portsmouth, on the night of November 16.

Immediately after the fire, Colonel Button referred the matter to the sleuths of his department. On information obtained by the detectives, Frazer was arrested and the charge of arson entered against him. He was given a hearing in Police Court and held for the grand jury, which will be convened by the judge of the Corporation Court of the city of Portsmouth on February 18.
